

Issaquah author receives six awards

June 25, 2015

By Staff

Issaquah author Lisa Quast has received six national and international awards for her second book, "Secrets of a Hiring Manager Turned Career Coach."

Lisa Quast

The guide to help you get the job you want was honored with several prestigious awards, including being named a Silver Award Winner by Axiom Business Book Awards, according to a news release.

The book received the following awards:

2015 Indie Reader Discovery Awards

Winner: Nonfiction

The Indie Reader Discovery Awards honor self-published books and are judged by notable publishers, agents, publicists and bloggers.

2015 National Indie Excellence Book Awards

Winner: Career category

Winner: Sponsor's Choice

As part of the award, "Secrets of a Hiring Manager Turned Career Coach" will also receive a book promotion service package worth thousands of dollars. Quast was also a Career Category winner at the NIEA in 2013 for her first book, "Your Career, Your Way!"

2015 Next Generation Indie Book Awards

Co-winner: Career category

The Next Generation Indie Book Awards are the largest not-for-profit awards program for independent publishers and are open to entries around the world.

2015 Axiom Business Book Awards

Silver Medal winner: Career category

The Axiom Business Book Awards are the only U.S.-based awards contest focused solely on business books, and are considered the largest and most respected guide point for business books.

2015 San Francisco Book Festival Competition

Runner-up: How-To category

The San Francisco Book Festival's competition includes 16 categories where entries are judged on general excellence, the author's passion for telling a good story and the potential of the work to reach a wider audience.

2015 International Book Awards

Award-winning finalist: Business Career category

"Secrets of a Hiring Manager Turned Career Coach" was honored as a finalist among more than 1,200 worldwide entries at this year's International Book Awards.

