

Smart Brief
December 22, 2014

Didn't get the job? Offer a productive response

12/22/2014 | Forbes

When you get turned down for a job, send the hiring manager a thank-you e-mail asking for feedback, writes Lisa Quast. Reiterate your interest in the company and ask the manager to keep your resume on file for future positions, she writes.

View Full Article in: Forbes

